Equality and Diversity Policy

The Reliable Law Services Commitment

Reliable Law Services declares its commitment to the principles of equality and diversity and to observing legislative requirements (in particular the Equality Act 2010) relating to discrimination and promoting equality and diversity. This applies to the Reliable Law Services' professional dealings with staff (including applicants and former members of staff) and partners, other solicitors, barristers, clients and third parties.

We are regulated by CILEX Regulation and as a member, we must follow the Code in our conduct, practice and professional performance and are under a duty to be familiar with the 9 core principles.

These are the nine principles. You must:

1. Uphold the rule of law and the impartial administration of justice;
2. Maintain high standards of professional and personal conduct and justify public trust in you, your profession and the provision of legal services;
3. Behave with honesty and integrity;
4. Comply with your legal and regulatory obligations and deal with regulators and ombudsmen openly, promptly and co-operatively;
5. Act competently, in the best interests of your client and respect client confidentiality;
6. Treat everyone fairly and without prejudice;
7. Ensure your independence is not compromised;
8. Act effectively and in accordance with proper governance and sound financial and risk management principles;
9. Protect client money and assets.

A copy of the Code can be found at:

We will not, in our professional dealings with employees, partners, members, directors, barristers, other lawyers, clients or third parties discriminate, without lawful cause, against any person, nor victimise or harass them on the grounds of:

- (a) race or racial group (including colour, nationality and ethnic or national origins);

- (b) sex (including marital, civil partnership status, gender reassignment, pregnancy, maternity and paternity); sexual orientation;
- (c) religion or belief;
- (d) age; or (f) disability (the “Protected Characteristics”).

We will take such steps, and make such adjustments, as are reasonable in all the circumstances in order to prevent any of our employees, partners, members, directors or clients who are disabled from being placed at a substantial disadvantage in comparison with those who are not disabled. If you are disabled or become disabled, we encourage you to tell us so that we can support you as appropriate and make reasonable adjustments as required.

Forms of Discrimination

The following are the kinds of discrimination, which are against the Reliable Law Services’ policy:

- (a) Direct discrimination, where a person is treated less favourably on the grounds of race, racial group, colour, ethnic or national origins, sex, pregnancy, marital status, disability or sexual orientation, religion or belief, or age.

- (b) Indirect discrimination, where an apparently neutral provision, criterion or practice would put a substantially higher proportion of people with a Protected Characteristic, at a particular disadvantage compared with other persons unless that provision, criterion or practice is objectively justified by a legitimate aim and the means of achieving that aim are appropriate and necessary.

- (c) Victimisation, where someone is treated less favourably than others because he or she has taken action. e.g. raising a complaint or supporting another in such a complaint in good faith against the Reliable Law Services relating to discrimination or harassment under section 27 of the Equality Act 2010.

(d) Harassment, when one person subjects another to “unwanted conduct that has the purpose or effect of creating an intimidating, hostile, degrading, humiliating or offensive environment” (section 26 of the Equality Act 2010). Harassment may involve physical acts or verbal and nonverbal communications and gestures, related to a Protected Characteristic. However, harassment of any type will not be tolerated.

(e) We will not discriminate against a person due to their association with someone with one of the Protected Characteristics e.g. a spouse or family member.

Employment & Training

As an employer, the Reliable Law Services will treat all employees and job applicants equally and fairly and not discriminate unjustifiably against them. This will, for example, include arrangements for recruitment and selection, terms and conditions of employment, access to training opportunities, access to promotion and transfers, grievance and disciplinary processes, demotions, selection for redundancies, dress code, references, bonus schemes, work allocation and any other employment related activities.

Questions concerning health or disability will not be asked at interview unless the particular job requires a specific level of fitness intrinsic to the role

Partners

Arrangements for selecting partners, their terms and conditions of partnership, access to benefits, facilities or services and termination arrangements will be reviewed and amended where necessary to prevent discrimination on any of the Protected Characteristics.

Barristers and Third Parties

(1) Barristers

Barristers will be instructed on the basis of their skills, experience and ability. The Reliable Law Services will not, on any of the Protected Characteristics, avoid briefing a barrister and will not request barristers’ clerks to do so.

Clients' requests for a named barrister should be complied with, subject to the Reliable Law Services duty to discuss with the client the suitability of the barrister and to advise appropriately.

The Reliable Law Services will discuss with the client any request by the client that only a barrister who is not disabled or who is of a particular gender, marital status, race, racial group, colour, ethnic or national origin, nationality, religion or belief, sexual orientation or age group be instructed. In the absence of a valid reason for this request, which must be within the exemptions permitted by the anti-discrimination legislation, the Reliable Law Services will endeavour to persuade the client to modify their instructions. Should the client refuse to modify such instructions, the Reliable Law Services will cease to act.

(2) Suppliers and other third parties

The Reliable Law Services will treat all suppliers, potential suppliers and other third parties fairly, and will not discriminate against them on any of the Protected Characteristics.

All lists of approved suppliers and databases of expert witnesses, contractors, agents and other third parties who, or which, are regarded as suitable to be instructed by those within the Reliable Law Services have been compiled only on the basis of the ability of those persons or organisations to supply goods or services of a particular type and contain no discriminatory exclusion, restriction or preference.

Clients

The Reliable Law Services is generally free to decide whether to accept instructions from any particular client, but any refusal to act will not be based upon any of the Protected Characteristics.

The Reliable Law Services will take steps to meet the different needs of particular clients arising from its obligations under the anti-discrimination legislation (such as the Equality Act 2010), the Solicitors' Code of Conduct 2007, Rule 6 – Equality and Diversity and the CILEX Code of Conduct.

Promoting Equality and Diversity

Employees and partners will be informed of this Equality and Diversity Policy.

This policy will be made available to clients, the Solicitors Regulation Authority and relevant third parties when required.

In all its dealings, including those with suppliers, contractors and recruitment agencies, the Reliable

Law Services will seek to promote the principles of equality and diversity.

1. Responsibility

Ultimate responsibility for this policy rests with the partners of the Reliable Law Services. The Reliable Law Services has appointed the Staff Partner to have operational responsibility for implementing, communicating, monitoring, evaluating and updating this policy.

All employees and partners of the Reliable Law Services are expected to pay due regard to the provisions of this policy and are responsible for ensuring compliance with it when undertaking their jobs or representing the Reliable Law Services. In particular partners and other managers are expected to lead by example in this regard.

Acts of discrimination or harassment on any of the Protected Characteristics, or any other failure to comply with this policy by employees or partners of the Reliable Law Services, may result in disciplinary action.

Acts of discrimination or harassment on any of the Protected Characteristics by those acting on behalf of the Reliable Law Services will lead to appropriate action including termination of service where appropriate.

2. Complaints of discrimination

The Reliable Law Services will treat seriously, and will take action where appropriate concerning, all complaints of discrimination or harassment on any of the Protected Characteristics made by employees, partners, clients, barristers or other third parties. Complaints will be investigated in accordance with the Reliable Law Services grievance or complaints procedure and the complainant will be informed of the outcome.

3. Monitoring and review

The operation of this policy will be monitored and reviewed by the Managing Partner in a manner proportionate to the size and nature of the Reliable Law Services on an ongoing basis to measure its progress and judge its effectiveness.

In particular, the Reliable Law Services will, as appropriate, monitor and record:

- (a) The gender and ethnic composition of the workforce and partners as well as the number of disabled staff and partners at different levels of the organisation.
- (b) The ethnicity, gender and disability of all applicants, short-listed applicants and successful applicants for jobs and training contracts.
- (c) The ethnicity, gender and disability of all applicants for promotion (including to partnership) and training opportunities and details of whether they were successful.
- (d) The number and outcome of complaints of discrimination made by staff, partners, barristers, clients and other third parties.
- (e) The disciplinary action (if any) taken against employees by race, gender and disability.

If it is possible to do so without causing offence or discomfort to those whom it is intended to protect, the sexual orientation and religion or belief of partners and staff will be monitored so as to ensure that they are not being discriminated against.

This information will be used to review the progress and impact of the Equality and Diversity Policy. Any changes required will be made and implemented.
